Forget-Me-Nots

Designed by Therese Eghult

The Story Behind...

The tiny and oh so lovely flower Mysotósis palústris (Forget-me-nots) has kind of large petals that most commonly shifts in light blue or white. You can usually find them beside a dirt road or along the beach, and they blossom all summer.

This was my inspiration while making this decorative little flower that you can use in so many different ways. You can tie it around a vase, your wrist or why not around your beach bag?! Tie it around a flowerpot or maybe around your curtains? Or simply skip the ribbon and attach it to a hairpiece.

By adjusting the length of your ribbon; you can add more flowers and make a beautiful boho-bunting...

Please feel free to be creative and play around with it.

Have fun!
