The Blooming Lotus Pillow

Designed by Therese Eghult & Inas Basymeleh

Notes on the pattern

Please note that this is an extension pattern to turn your Blooming Lotus Square into a pillow.

Here we will guide you on how to make a simple back piece for your pillow along with how to assemble the two pieces together.

We have used a self striping yarn so there is no colorway given for this one, but please find inspiration amongst all the beautiful squares that have been shared under the official hashtag: #BloomingLotusSquare at Instagram.

Every round begins with a standing stitch!

You Will Need

Yarn:

2 skeins of Karamell
in the colorway Nougat (208)
by Falkgarn.

Worsted weight (9 wpi),
80 % acrylic & 20 % wool

We used a 50x 50 pillow
insert, stitch markers,
a 5 mm hook,
a darning needle and a pair of scissors.

The Assembly

Remove your stitch marker, that is placed in the closing slip stitch of round 29 of the front piece, and pick up the loop.

With the wrong sides against each other simply slip stitch in the back loops through all stitches of the pieces.

Before slip stitching the last side close; put your chosen insert inside the pillow case. Place stitch markers across the side to help hold the piece together whilst crocheting it close.

Close with an invisible join to the second stitch and fasten off.

- Per side: 72 BLOsl sts
